S. H. Heyser Died at Age Of 99 Years

Sam H. Heyser, one of the oldest pioneers of this part of the Plains, died Sunday night at the age of 99 years and two days.

Heyser was born in Kentucky but he left there in 1887 to come to Texas. His first year was spent in the vicinity of Austin. That part of the state didn't appeal to him and from the tales he had heard he felt that West Texas would.

It was about 65 years ago that he camped a short distance east of the present location of Canyon. When daylight came the next morning Heyser saw many wild antelope and horses. Overhead circled wild geese and on a lake nearby were lots of wild ducks. Then and there young Heyser fell in love with the Plains and declared his loyalty to this area. He proved that loyalty by remaining here the final 65 years of his life.

During his first year here he worked for the T-Anchor ranch. Later he worked for the XIT ranch. While he was working for this ranch he took many trips up the Montana Trail. After leaving the XIT ranch Heyser went into the stock raising business and moved into Canyon. He was in the area when L. G. Conner hauled in the logs for the first dugout in this area.

Doctors were few and far between on the Plains when Heyser first came here. When Heyser broke an ankle there was no doctor to set it. His cowboy friends set the break in their own crude way and made splints of sticks and used a lariat to bind the splints to the foot. It took three weeks for the broken bone to mend.

A few buffalo were still on the Plains when Heyser came. Other wild game included wild horses, turkey, and antelope. When the Santa Fe Railroad came through Heyser helped survey the line between Amarillo and Roswell, New Mexico. Later he held the position of county treasurer.

He was married to the late Ada Redfearn, who died in 1929. Mr. Heyser has since made his home with his sister-in-law and brother-in-law, Miss Columbia and C. Redfearn.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Methodist Church, conducted by Rev. Lester L. Hill. Interment followed in Dreamland Cemetery under the direction of the Griggs-Warren Funeral Home.

Canyon City Club Members Make Oasis of Grounds

"Oasis of Canyon" is the name some of the members have given the City Club since improvements began out there a short time ago. The improvements made include a well to keep the creek filled with water, a kitchen for the clubhouse and six benches for the picnic grounds. Two projects are still being worked on: rest rooms for the clubhouse and a putting green which is being seeded.

In order to finance the needed improvements, members had to pay $25 each. This $25 was in addition to the regular dues. Some have already said the improvements increase the value of their membership as much as $100.

The 105 foot well at the club has a six inch pump that is powered with a Chevrolet motor. The motor and pump are borrowed from the Bryan McDonald farm.

Floyd Tomlinson is chairman of the committee that got the well drilled and pumping. The strategic location of the well makes it convenient for keeping the creek filled with water.

It required about nine days and night pumping for the well to fill the creek. This includes the 12 to 15 feet deep "country hole" type swimming pool and several miles of creek suitable for fishing.

Bill Sternenberg is chairman of the golf committee. At present his group is seeding in a grass putting green course.

Trespass Charge Filed Co. Court

Trespassing charges were filed yesterday in county court against a motorcycle rider who escaped death Sunday.

The Amarillo Motorcycle Club had designated the Santa Fe tracks from Amarillo to Canyon as the way for riders to follow in a handicap race. A train on the main line, traveling at 70 miles an hour, caught up with the group of riders. All but one escaped from the tracks before the train came up to the bunch. The boy escaped but his machine was demolished by the train.

The right-of-way is private property, and therefore the charge of trespassing was filed against the rider. Those who walk or ride on the rails take their lives in their own hands, as well as face court action as trespassers.

Farm Bureau Starts Drive for Members

Randall County Farm Bureau's big 1953 membership drive will get under way officially with a kick-off supper Tuesday, April 7, at 7:30 p. m. at the American Legion Hall in Canyon, according to G. A. Dietz, president.

Randall County Farm Bureau, one of the oldest county farm organizations in the state, has been strong and active since its founding back in 1936. The 1953 quota is 500. The present membership is 443. The local leaders see no difficulty in reaching this year's quota. In the past the number of members in the local organization has ranged from 400 to as high as 600.

Principal speaker at the supper meeting will be Marvin Carter of Waco, organization director for the Texas Farm Bureau Federation. Assisting in the organization part of the meeting will be O. K. Hoyle, TFBF fieldman from Seymour. Dietz will preside at the supper meeting.

Membership workers from organized community in Randall County will attend the Kick-off meeting. Hoyle will provide renewal and prospect cards and membership kits to the workers. Each worker will be given cards on farmers in his community.

The renewal cards contain information on expiration dates of present or past members and the other cards are for prospective new members.

A report meeting will be held at the same place one week from the night of the kick-off supper. At that time, the community membership chairman will report on the results of the drive in their respective communities.

Dietz stressed the need for a strong farm organization—one that the farmers can use effectively to gain a fair share of the national income.

"Our farm prices are on the decline, but the prices of things we must buy are rising steadily," the local farm leader said. "We can correct that situation only by self-help, and the Farm Bureau organization is the tool that we can use to get the job done. It is a voluntary and independent organization of, by and for the farmers and ranchers. Policies are determined democratically, and every one in the organization has an opportunity to voice his opinion."

To illustrate the value of the Farm Bureau to farmers, Dietz pointed to the legislative work being carried on in the state capital. The Texas Farm Bureau Federation is waging a ceaseless battle to save the tractor gasoline refund. H. B. 388, which was introduced by Rep. James W. Yancy of Houston, would take away one-fourth of the refund on the non-highway gasoline tax.

This is but one of the issues where the Farm Bureau is looking out for the interests of the farmers, Dietz said. During the last legislative session—two years ago—the Texas Farm Bureau Federation not only defeated an attempt to take away all of the tractor gas refund, but was also instrumental in saving the rural road program and the county road bond assumption monies. Before that hectic session was over, the farmers and ranchers of Texas had also pushed through a natural gas tax bill which is still being fought in the courts.

First Baptist Church To Begin Spring Revival Sunday

The First Baptist Church will begin its regular spring revival Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. Strauss Atkinson, pastor of the church, will preach at both services Sunday. Rev. Sterling Price, pastor of the University Baptist Church, Abilene, will preach at all other services beginning Monday night and closing Sunday night, April 12.

Rev. Price is a native Oklahoman. He graduated from the Enid Business College; received the B.A. degree from Oklahoma Baptist University and was a scholarship student at the Chicago Conservatory of Music in 1936. He received the Master of Sacred Music degree from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, in 1939 and the Master of Religious Education in 1940. At present he is working toward the doctorate.

The services will be nightly at 8:00. Vocal and instrumental ensembles have been arranged and Dennis Lyle will direct the choir and congregational singing.

Public Advised Start Early To Palo Duro Sunrise Service

"Those planning to attend the Sunrise Easter Service in Palo Duro Canyon should allow themselves plenty of time to get there without breaking the speed limit," said Park Concessionaire John McCarty last week. McCarty said the service would be held as usual at No. 1 Crossing and will begin this year at 6:29 o'clock Sunday morning.

McCarty said the park gates will open at 5 o'clock Sunday morning. The program is strictly a religious service, not a pageant nor a play.

Paul McClung of the Baptist Church at Dawn will give the message. The Horace Mann Junior High School Choir of Amarillo will sing. This is the same group who sang last year, McCarty stated.

A Few Observations As The Days Roll By . . . .

Talk about your class legislation, what can be greater class legislation than the extra appropriation which was voted last week in the House of Representatives at Austin for the Junior Colleges.

When the Newsman was a member of the House 25 years ago, we tried to make it impossible for school districts to establish Junior Colleges and then dump them on the state for support. We succeeded only in part.

In recent years, with about 40 such institutions created, the demand has been growing for more and more appropriations for Junior Colleges, with less and less support for Senior Colleges.

There is no excuse for such a situation. It is class legislation pure and simple, with all lawmakers fearful of opening their mouths against the practice least they might offend some good voters in their district. We have no fight against Junior Colleges so long as the people who voted such a burden upon themselves are willing to shoulder their responsibility and support such institutions. But when these Junior Colleges are unloaded on the State of Texas at the taxpayers' expense, we have a right to howl to high heaven against the practice.

Since this legislature seems to be dedicated to the program of legislating out of existence those whom some folks think are their competitors, we presume that the people can expect no less than see such a practice continue. We have already seen class legislation of the rankest type introduced, and some of it passed by both Houses.

We like to howl to high heaven for a return to "free enterprise," but rush to the legislature trying to curb our competitors with unjust laws which are diametrically opposed to "free enterprise."

The legislature has refused to kill an appropriation which would continue the so-called "legislative council." The council is the most dictatorial and abusive department of government which has ever been conceived. The council seeks to administer the affairs of the colleges of Texas without knowing the slightest thing about college administration.

The colleges are required to spend—or waste, rather—thousands of dollars of the taxpayers' money, in an attempt to answer silly questions and fill out questionaires of the so-called council.

We are told that the council is supposed to be made up of members of both the House and the Senate. As a matter of fact, members of the legislature are prohibited by law from drawing more money than their regular salaries of $10 per day during sessions of the legislature. As a result of this law, the council has hired a group of people to look after its business.

The council is nothing more than another spoke in the wheel to hamper the work of colleges in Texas, and to handicap administrators.

Yet the legislature is willing to spend huge sums to keep this group of men at work in Austin trying to figure out schemes to pile more work and more expense on the colleges—useless work and useless expense.

"The little man will pay all the costs of gasoline tax hike" is the scare head of a protest against the proposed increase in the gasoline tax in The Houstonian. Governor Shivers proposed the hike in order that more roads could be built.

The article is filled with errors, including the subheading, "Any legislator who votes for gas increase is not a good representative of the people."

We are willing to agree upon the inequalities of tax equalization in so far as the little man is concerned. The fellow with nothing more than a house pays more in proportion than the fellow with a lot of cash and bonds, which he can hide. But the homestead exemption prevents him from getting stuck with a big tax bill. Even the simplest reader knows that he is well protected under the homestead law.

The Houston publisher should know better than to attempt to prejudice the readers when he is not holding to the truth.

"The Mystery Farm" has proved to be one of the most popular features which we have ever bought. It cost The Canyon News a lot of money to have these pictures made from the air; and cuts made of the pictures. But we assure you that the expense is well justified.

As the series of photographs continue weekly throughout the coming year, you will be amazed at the improvements which have been made in the farm homes of Randall county during the past years. Just take time off and drive out into the country to see these homes.

Folks who have driven over Canyon for the first time in several months have expressed amazement at the improvements which have been made.

Out in the country you will view like improvements. This is a great country, with forward looking folks on the farms and in the towns.

Who owns the big corporations of America?

We have heard these groups so soundly cussed and discussed, that a little information may be in place.

When Congress forced Wilson to sell his 40,000 shares of General Motors stock there was some speculation as to the results. As a matter of record there are 2,500,000 shares of GM stock, and the sale of Wilson's block had no effect whatsoever on either the price of GM stock or the entire stock market.

When America was formed, this was an agricultural nation. Each family was forced to provide for its own needs as best it could. The same idea is not true today. Mass production has resulted.

A few years ago it was the smart thing to talk about "trustbusting." Today you would be considered silly if you attempted to break up the big corporations. These groups not only furnish the goods which could otherwise not be provided for your comfort and convenience, but likewise they sell their products at prices which you can afford to pay.

We cannot do away with stocks any more than we can abolish industry.

The time is near at hand when the school situation must be solved.

The census figures will reveal that there will be more children in the first grade next year than ever before. What shall we do with this great number of children?

Unless this country blows up and folks are forced to move away in order to make a living, these same children will continue in school for the next 10 or 12 years. They will be followed in coming years by an increased number of children who will come to school year after year.

If you want to be called a liar, or have the stuffin' beat out of you on the spot, just intimate that you expect to see Canyon dry up and blow away. We are not the kind of folks who are easily scared or who have no regard for the future of this country.

These children—the ones who are to be educated—have the right for the best educational facilities of which we are capable of giving them.

It matters not whether we like or dislike taxes; whether or not the State or Federal government should come to our aid in educational matters. The facts are that these are OUR CHILDREN and we, the people of Canyon and Randall county, have an obligation toward them. We must provide for the future.

By the end of April it is estimated that all committees of citizens who have been studying the educational needs of our schools will have completed their survey and will have made their report to the people of the district.

We are not inclined to believe that anyone will be greatly surprised, or shocked by the educational needs of the community.

All that we have to do is to make up our minds right here and now that regardless of the demands of the citizens of Canyon that the future welfare of the children comes first in our thinking.

Sure it is going to cost money—a lot of money—but these are OUR KIDS, and we must take care of them.

Senators who oppose the tidelands bill in Congress are now threatening to kill it through the filibuster. No wonder President Eisenhower is making the death of this ungodly vehicle as one of his major issues. The filibuster has killed much good as well as bad legislation.

The Canyon News suggested a couple of weeks ago that the best way to handle the libel on Texas was to ignore the article which was written by a sensational journalist, who was seeking notoriety for himself and his magazine.

Now comes a Texan who has entered a libel suit against the firm for having published the article. He says that he will turn all of the damages which he collects from his suit over to the schools of Texas. Of course, this lawyer does not expect to collect damages, but is seeking a little publicity for himself.

Now comes another native Texan, Ernest Joiner, publisher of The Ralls Banner, who is of the opinion that the article was not strong enough. Joiner is a freelance writer who likes to take the hide off people in spots where it really hurts. He makes fun of the people of Texas who profess to be so indignant over the truth which was told about them by the magazine writer.

It's a great life, here in Texas, in this 1953.

Beginning the second week following Easter, America will observe the ninth annual recognition of National Sunday School Week (April 13 through 19). Lasting the entire week, this all-faiths drive is planned with an idea of stimulating the attendance of every adult and child at the Sunday School of his own choice on Sunday, April 19.

Sponsored by the Laymen's National Committee, a non-profit, non-sectarian organization consisting of men and women from civic as well as business fields, this worthy project is yearly highlighted throughout the entire country.

Laying foundations of faith through the training in religion for our little ones is all important if we as a nation are to survive in today's world of paganism and constant conflict. Our Sunday Schools are more than mere religious training institutions—they are a combination of the ministry and lay workers, a happy team, united in their selfless dedication to an ideal of an ever closer relation between man and God.

Ever hear of IGHATS? It is the slogan of a new mass movement and it means "I'm gonna holler about taxes." It had its beginnings at a Cedar Rapids community luncheon where industrial workers earning $3,400 a year learned that they were paying $1,100 a year in taxes, $800 of which is hidden. It has been spreading fast. Ministerial groups, union locals, chambers of commerce and other such organizations have promised it support.

The IGHATS battle cry couldn't have been sounded at a better time. In 1929, federal spending amounted to 3.6 per cent of the national income. Now, it is estimated, it amounts to more than 30 per cent. The IGHATS movement is designed to do something about this situation—and do it in a novel way in which everyone can participate. How about joining up?

"We must write over and over again the old copybook maxims. Honesty is the best policy. There is no substitute for work. Folly brings its own penalty. Right living brings its own reward. The market place is mightier than any legislative hall."

Shoplifting is the oldest of problems to merchants. It became more acute with the spread of the self-service system of selling goods on what amounts to an honor basis. The vast majority of customers are honest, but the crooked few must always be combatted. In late years merchants have intensified their efforts in this regard—with marked success.

The American Stores of Philadelphia recently listed some two-score tricks of the light-fingered artists, but said it had no intention of disclosing to the looters measures employed by the police and stores to curb this lawless activity.

Teen-agers, women and men use all sorts of devices and strategems to hide their loot—hats, handbags, double sacks, inside pockets, large sleeves, heavy socks with elastic tops, hollowed-out books, musical instrument cases, umbrellas, bandaged arms, rolls of toilet paper, baby carriages, waist bands of trousers, rubberized panel inserts for sweaters, flowing coats, maternity gowns, and many others. Teen-agers often work in groups.

In spite of all this ingenuity, the shoplifter is almost invariably caught, sooner or later. Thievery is relative—some thieves steal merchandise, others steal nations. But crooks finally wind up in deep trouble—as witness history.

Then there are those people who brag about the sum they pay in taxes.

Elders seldom approve of the new habits of the rising generation.

Few people have sense enough to appreciate constructive criticism.

LIPSTICK LOGIC

by LOUISE ALLEN

Sure sign of spring is a new teen-age rage. This time, of all things, it's a dog collar! Yes, Spot's brass-studded neckwear — in green, red or tan — now decks the junior high maiden's ankle. If she wears it on the left one, it means she's 'hopeful'; on the right, she's 'going steady.'

Although fads among teen-age girls may change from year to year, there's not much difference in the degree of nonsense involved. Take the 'forever' signet ring exchange of 30 or 40 years ago. The 'link' friendship bracelets and charm bracelets of more recent years. The sweetheart lockets and the 'dog tags,' too.

Seems when spring rolls round, the girls just about have to have some kind of a gimmick to express their joy at being alive.

Grown women go for symbols, too, but theirs change little from year to year, and of course they're never silly. But when the fruit blossoms and the daffodils pop out, women get new hair-dos and begin to talk about losing weight.

Women as a rule show great common sense in selection of their spring symbols. They go to a few style shows and exclaim over the fashions that look breath-taking on their slimmer and trimmer sisters. They have a mild outburst of parties, using spring motifs. They haunt the accessories counters and come home with some pretty daring wardrobe pick-me-ups — then wonder why they did it. And occasionally they go gently color-daffy with a riotously decorated hat.

Guess what it boils down to is this: young or old, girls will be girls, especially in the spring.

BOYCE HOUSE Gives You Texas

Col. Ray Leeman of San Antonio tells an amusing story about the cavalry band which he commanded. It was ambitious to be the only band in the nation's military forces that played on horseback—only thing was, the band members neglected to take the horses into their confidence. But let Colonel Leeman (who was manager of the Mineral Wells Chamber of Commerce at the time) tell the story:

It was back in 1925 when I was Captain of Cavalry and commanded the Service Troop of the 112th Cavalry, which included the regimental band.

Our barracks and stables were located on West Mountain, which, as you know, is a long sugar loaf shaped hill covered with mesquite brush. We were to hold our annual encampment at Leon Springs in July, at which time we desired to parade the band for the famous old cavalryman, Colonel Tommy Tompkins, on his birthday, which was July 5th I believe. The band had been trained and was a very good band but it had never played mounted.

Band Mounts

Early one Sunday morning we decided to mount the band. The band leader was Warrant Officer Bronson. We got all of the bandsmen on their horses and I asked Mr. Bronson if he was ready. He said "Yes, sir." I then rode to the head of the troop and gave the order to march. In a few moments I gave Mr. Bronson the order to "sound off."

He raised his trumpet to his lips and blew a couple of notes and the band started to play. In about three minutes there were horses, troops, band instruments and other accoutrements scattered over a couple of square miles of the hill!

Drums and trombones were hung in mesquite trees and horses and men were scattered far and wide. It took us the rest of the day to get the government property together and back in the barracks.

Funny but Serious

It is funny now but it was rather serious then since I was responsible officer for all the government equipment which we had distributed over the landscape.

I might say that we kept at it, mounted the band, and it played mounted for Colonel Tommy's birthday. For a time it was the only National Guard mounted band in the nation and later became very famous.

If I ask for butter beans in a cafeteria, the waitress always corrects me with, "Do you mean Lima beans?" Back in Arkansas, we called 'em butter beans because they looked like butter and tasted like butter. I don't know how a city in Peru got into the picture.

Come As You Are Party Held by Club

On March 16 members of the Pleasantview Home Demonstration Club met early in the morning for a "Come As You Are Breakfast" in the home of Mrs. Earl Burtz.

Each one went as she was dressed when notified. Few were completely dressed and most were in old faded bath robes. Pictures were made of each. Mrs. Clifford Burtz and Mrs. John Jennings were fined because they came looking attractive.

Breakfast served consisted of hot biscuits, bacon, eggs, jam, and coffee. On the plates were instructions for each one to perform at sometime during the breakfast. Miss Patterson had to watch and serve those "good old Gladiola biscuits" during the meal. Mrs. Hufnagle was supposed to serve her table, but she kept quiet and let Miss Patterson serve until it was discovered she finished serving the two tables. Mrs. Spencer danced a jig; Mrs. M. B. Brown sang "Shortenin' Bread;" Mrs. Carver kept each one's coffee cup filled, etc.

After the breakfast a game of pinning the clothes pin was played. Pictures were taken of each playing this game. Mrs. Carver rushed in to help Mrs. E. L. Cranmer pin her clothes pin and everyone yelled "They're cheating; take their picture showing them cheating." They were disqualified, but it didn't matter anyway as Mrs. M. B. Brown won. The prize was a large box of clothes pins.

Those attending were Mesdames Harold Martin, Mae Johnson and Miss Patterson, guests; and Mesdames J. W. Howell, Clifford Burtz, E. L. Cranmer, J. W. Spencer, John Jennings, Henry Meyer, B. F. Hufnagle, Ray Welch, Carver, and the hostess, members.

Scouts To Sponsor Films Monday Nite

On Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the College Auditorium Troop 66 Boy Scouts of America will present a moving picture show of interest to all those interested in baseball in any form.

A two hour show will present four films, "World Series of 1952," "Making of a Yankee," "Batting Stars of Baseball," "Pitching Stars of Baseball."

These films are the real thing. "Making of a Yankee" is being furnished by the New York Yankees. The two films "Batting" and "Pitching" stars are furnished by the National Association of Baseball Clubs.

Scouts are selling tickets at 50 cents per person, and will collect the tickets at the door. They are working hard. Their efforts are being made to make enough money to send two boys to the National Jamboree at Irving Ranch, Calif., this summer. They wish to make this money by giving the public something in return for their money.

Your money will be well spent and you will have an enjoyable evening if you are in any way interested in the national pastime.

Remember the time is 7:30 p. m. The date is Monday, April 6, and the place is the college auditorium.

PALO DURO-RUSK H. D. CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. McCLENDON

The Palo Duro-Rusk Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. J. C. McClendon Tuesday. The meeting was opened with group singing. Miss Patterson demonstrated pie make-up.

Minutes were read and eight members answered roll call. It was voted that this club have a game party to meet expenses of sending delegates to state meeting. Mrs. Charles Wilkinson played two hymns pertaining to the resurrection of our Lord, "Christ Arose" and "He Lives."

Delicious refreshments were served to guest, Mrs. E. W. Glenn, one new member, Mrs. Charles Conatser, and members, Mesdames Clem Dugan, Roger Dugan, Henry Miller, Bert Northcutt, Lena Northcutt, Edd Reynolds, and Charles Wilkinson, by the hostess, Mrs. McClendon.

The next meeting will be a covered dish luncheon in the home of Mrs. Henry Miller Tuesday, April 7.

Mrs. Will Sharpley of Corsicana is visiting with her daughters and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Knighton and children and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jay Prichard and son.

Mrs. Otta Lee Elkins with her mother, Mrs. Addie Hefner, spent Sunday in Lubbock with her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Hefner.

Roy Carver, a pioneer of Canyon, visited friends and relatives in Canyon Saturday. Mr. Carver is a graduate of West Texas State College, now living in Amarillo.

Miss Geraldine Darst spent Friday until Tuesday with relatives in Sherman, Whitewright, and Leonard.

Miss Sammie Pond visited Mrs. R. L. Pond and Oleta in Borger over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Amburn of Borger visited in the B. C. Taylor, Jr., home Sunday.

"THEY DIDN'T BELIEVE ME"

. . . but I told all members of the DIN-R-BRIDGE CLUB who met at Chris and Gene McGlasson's on Friday, March 27, that this report would be the usual write-up. So here goes.

Those present were the M. D. Shepherds, H. R. Fultons, Borden Prices, Dudley Moores, Ray Raillards, and, of course, our hosts. The Lewis Stoelzings and Holmes Ambroses were greatly missed.

A planter was presented to the McGlassons as a housewarming gift. A delicious dinner was served before card playing time (we did do a little of that in between "our little gems of wisdom" contributed by all who were there).

Thelma and H. R. left with high prize for the evening and it's getting to be monotonous what with Pat and M. D. always winning low. Next month we go to the Stoelzings for what kind of supper, I don't know. We spent about 30 minutes trying to decide what would be the meat course, but no definite kind was decided upon . . . probably broiled snake. (That's almost as bad as some of the things suggested).

Well, I did get off the usual routine, and I'm sorry . . . could go on and on with the things said and the way we laughed and cut up . . . but it would take 5½ hours to repeat every little thing like vampires and such . . . you members know what I mean.

Not out of ideas but think it is about time to stop this; would not have said this much were it not for "a certain little old lady."

Respectfully submitted
D. M.

NEWS LETTER

From Congressman WALTER ROGERS

of the 18th Congressional District

Tax Reduction Depends on March 15th Tax Collections

Whether or not the American taxpayer receives any relief this year will depend to a large extent on the amount of money coming into the U. S. Treasury from March 15, 1953, tax collections. It is impossible to tell accurately in advance what each year's tax collections will bring in. This was definitely proven when the Ruml plan was originally adopted. The Ruml plan is the plan that requires the employer to make weekly or monthly income tax deductions from pay checks. When this plan was adopted, it was estimated by tax experts that it would increase tax collections approximately 6 billion dollars. It actually increased tax collections approximately 13 billion dollars.

There are many factors that must be considered in making an estimate of tax collections. Many of these factors are so fluid that it is impossible for human beings to accurately estimate what effect each will finally have on the amount of money coming into the treasury.

Congressman Reed, of New York, the author of H. R. 1, which would advance the expiration date of the 11 percent 1951 income tax increase from December 31, 1953, to June 30, 1953, recently told me that he felt tax collections would be greater than anticipated this year. He has given deep study to the tax structure for many years and the expertness of his tax knowledge is widely recognized.

A small percentage increase in tax collections, coupled with reasonable cuts in government expenditures, the trimming of fat from the budget, and a sound reduction in federal employees, would not only balance the budget, but would make possible the tax cut proposed by Congressman Reed.

This tax cut would not mean much to those in the low income brackets, but would be a step in the right direction for ultimate relief to all. I personally prefer legislation raising the individual and dependent exemptions in accordance with the bill that I have introduced for that purpose.

Such legislation would bring immediate relief where it is most sorely needed and at the same time would not discriminate against those in the higher income brackets, simply because everyone would get the same treatment. This could be done by gradually raising the exemptions for the next four or five years.

A present exemption raise of $100 would mean a tax reduction of approximately 2 billion dollars. If this was raised $100 each year for four years, the annual loss in tax revenue would be approximately 8.7 billion dollars.

Under the Reed bill, the 1953 tax revenue loss would be approximately 1.5 billion dollars. The 1951 increase now yields about 3 billion dollars annually. I voted against this increase in 1951.

The benefits of my present tax reduction proposal would go immediately to those in the lower income brackets and in many instances would actually mean more bread or new shoes for the kids. This is a problem that is considerably more serious than might be fully appreciated. The expiration of 5% increase in the corporate normal tax, which expires April 1, 1954, means a reduction of 2 billion dollars annually in tax revenues.

The expiration on April 1, 1954, of the increase in the excise tax would mean a loss of about 1 billion dollars annually. The expiration on July 1, 1953, of the increase in the excess profits tax would mean a tax revenue loss of about 2 billion dollars annually.

I Would Hate To Be At War With This Country

I had a most moving experience recently. A number of congressmen were taken to the Aberdeen, Maryland, Proving Ground of the United States Army to be briefed on the progress that is being made by the Department of Defense in weapons, communications, transportation, and so forth.

Of course, I can not divulge the information that was made available to me, but I can tell you that if any country thinks that the United States has been asleep in research and development, that country had better think several times before taking a swing at Uncle Sam. Some of the weapons and equipment have reached such a stage of development that the Army felt secure recently in divulging to the public the potentialities thereof.

I witnessed these weapons and this equipment in actual operation, and can assure you that they appear to me to be much more effective than they might appear on a television screen, a movie reel, or being described over the radio.

Actually, they are only the beginning. To say that a foreign country jumping on this country would land in a nest of wildcats would be a masterpiece of understatement. The "don't tread on me" warning is still very appropriate.

How Fast Is Our Population Growing

There is one birth every nine seconds, one death every 21 seconds, one immigrant every two minutes, and one emigrant every 17 minutes. This all adds up to a net gain of one individual in this country every 13 seconds. The population of this country, according to the Department of Commerce, at 1:55 p. m., March 18, 1953, was 158,940,556. By simple arithmetic you can determine what it is when you read this letter.

SURPRISE TO HER

Honolulu. — Going to her doctor for an examination, Mrs. Annie McShane, 38, of Honolulu, complained, "There's something wrong with me. I don't know what it is but go ahead and check me up." Three days later, Mrs. McShane gave birth to a 6-pound, 6-ounce boy—her first in 17 years of marriage. The birth was perfectly normal, the physician said.

MIXES HOLIDAYS

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Let's talk about money — about spending a hundred and sixty odd million dollars of your money.

That's what the Legislature is doing. But even considering the size of that amount, the economy forces seem to be in control.

The proposed spending budget for the next two years is within tax revenue that the state can expect to receive. That means, if appropriations bills as they now stand are finally passed, no new taxes will be needed.

More liberal-minded legislators have advocated a number of new expenditures. In the House last week, for example, representatives said "no" to a proposal that would have given $2,600,000 more to the University of Texas at Austin.

Lawmakers eyed keenly a reduction in the oil production allowable, ruled by the Railroad Commission.

Comptroller R. S. Calvert had expected the cut and figured it into his estimate of state income for the next two years. But if there should be further drops in oil production, state tax revenue would fall below present anticipations.

The biggest part of the state's revenue is from a tax of about 11 cents per barrel on oil.

Calvert has been told by experts, however, that the demand for Texas oil may increase next summer. Allowables are fixed on the basis of demand and other factors.

Right now, imports of foreign oil are cutting into the demand for Texas crude.

With the conservatives scoring victories in both House and Senate, the future looked doubtful for increasing pay of teachers and state employes and for improving the state's highways.

Representative Charles Murphy of Houston advocates a constitutional amendment that would devote all future increases in the gasoline tax to roads.

That would help the road situation, if a gasoline tax increase were passed; but it would not give any more money to schools.

Governor Allan Shivers voiced his disapproval of any new state taxes except a 1 cent increase in the gasoline tax, to pay for more roads. The Governor also said he hoped for court approval of the present natural gas tax which would bring in 40 to 45 million dollars. He added that if the gas tax is found constitutional he may call a special session to appropriate the money for state improvements and services.

One proposed solution to the highway problem is to authorize construction of toll roads. But there is difference of opinion in both House and Senate as to how the toll road authority should be set up.

The first bill to be introduced was one that would permit the installation of a Dallas-Fort Worth toll road. Later there were other bills in both House and Senate, these making the toll road authority statewide.

The House bill, for example, provides that the three highway commissioners would head the state toll road agency.

Sponsors of this bill say it would make possible the construction of needed roads immediately; that the roads would be built by private industry; and that they would save tax money.

Supporters of this measure also argue that a central state agency would be preferable to a number of local, un-coordinated toll road authorities.

The Highway Department, meanwhile, was about a million dollars better off than it expected to be.

The department let contracts for improvements on 446 miles of state roads. The total bids amounted to about nine and a half million dollars.

The department had figured that the cost would be more like ten and a half million.

Senators gave their support to Pioneer Airlines in that carrier's controversy with the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The board had denied Pioneer larger mail subsidies, claimed to be necessary after putting larger aircraft into operation at the board's suggestion.

By a resolution passed unanimously, the Senate called the CAB's action ill-considered, capricious, and arbitrary.

By all tests so far, the Legislature has approved giving the right of jury service to women.

A resolution calling for the necessary constitutional amendment passed the House of Representatives by a vote of 124 to 16. A Senate committee also put its OK on women jury service.

If the resolution is finally passed, the voters will have their chance to approve or disapprove the proposition at the general election in November next year.

Forty-two states now permit women to serve on juries.

The Senate passed, 26 to 2, and sent to the House a bill providing that persons convicted of drunken driving would automatically go to jail for three days and pay a $50 fine.

Senator Carlos Ashley, author of the bill, said it would aid law enforcement and traffic safety if people who drive while drunk know they will have to spend some time in jail.

The bill would not change the maximum penalties of two years in jail and $500 fine.

Radio and television stations do not want to be sued for any libelous statements made by persons who buy time on the stations.

In the House is a bill by Representative J. R. Paxton of Elkhart that would give the desired protection, requested by the Texas Association of Broadcasters.

Witnesses told the judiciary committee, which voted the bill out, that stations actually have no control over what a political candidate says in a broadcast or telecast, though he may be asked for an advance script.

SHORT SNORTS: The Supreme Court will hear arguments next month on the validity of the drivers responsibility law. The San Antonio Court of Civil Appeals had ruled in favor of the Texas Department of Public Safety in upholding the act . . . A Senate Committee voted to prohibit further expansion of Texas junior colleges, but Senator Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo gave notice that he would bring the proposition out on a minority report . . . The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports that Texas now produces more gas, consumes more within its own borders, exports more to other states, and has more underground than any other state.

Record steel production is expected to continue.

Mystery Farm Is Identified By Owner Ben Koch

Last week's mystery farm was that of Ben Koch, 3½ miles south and two miles east of Umbarger. The place is worked by Mr. Koch and his son Max. There are about 1,760 acres of land in the entire farm and the portion kept in cultivation each year is between 700 and 800 acres. The land is rotated in order to keep the soil productive.

Mr. Koch has been on the farm about 23 years. He purchased the farm in 1937 and has been constantly improving it with various types of new buildings. Recently the large quonset hut shown in the background of the picture, was constructed on the farm. Since the farm was first plowed, in about 1929, much of the land has been farmed a while and put back into grass for a pasture and to build up its productive capacity.

Mr. Koch married in 1931 and the couple now have six children, three boys and three girls. The boys are Max, Robert, and Joey, and the girls are Anne, Cathrine, and Marie. Ben Koch, who belongs to the Farm Bureau and Knights of Columbus organizations, lists his favorite hobby as goose hunting.

The main crop on the farm is wheat but a great deal of grain sorghums are also grown for feed crops. The farm land in cultivation is usually divided approximately in half between the two crops. Some of the wheat is used strictly as winter grazing land.

No fertilizer or weed control spray has been used on the place to any great extent. Modern methods of farm tillage are used and Hereford cattle are grown.

Sometimes in winter the livestock feed is supplemented by cotton seed cake. Mr. Koch is a strong believer in soil conservation and keeps rotating his crops in order to keep the land built up.

W. T. Elementary Girls Sing at Lions Club Wednesday

Rex Reeves, principal of West Texas Elementary School, had charge of the Lions Club program Wednesday. The 7th and 8th grade girls' choir from the school sang a number of songs. They were directed by Mrs. Hope Wells Rusk.

Prior to the program the announcements included introduction of Lion Bill Ford of Happy and a reminder of the benefit dance held at Bowman's Lake.

After several special numbers, in which the piano accompanist was a different girl each time, the entire choir sang "Songs My Mother Taught Me." Then a triple trio sang Les Brown's version of "Sentimental Journey," followed by a quartet who sang 'Tumbling Tumbleweeds."

Then a sextette came forward and sang the Jerome Kern's popular "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," a song appropriate at the time because the Lions were smoking cigars through the compliments of Richmond Hales who recently became the father of a boy.

The entire choir sang "You'll Never Walk Alone," which was supposed to be their last number. Applause brought the girls back to sing "Stars of the Summer Night."

Lion Jimmy Flynn announced the club had been 100% during the past 29 weeks. Lion Boss "Dutch" Cleavinger announced a board meeting for the following Monday night. Aubrey Crossland, chairman of the convention committee, stated the decision of his committee to board of directors.

The committee recommended four delegates be sent to the National Convention July 8-12 in Chicago. Two of these would be the outgoing and incoming presidents of the Lions Club. The other two would be drawn from a hat and the club is to pay all expenses.

The club's visitors Wednesday were: W. A. Graham, Lion Bill Ford of Happy, Roy Markham, Jack Garrett, R. L. Breckenridge, and Rev. Win Matsler. The Junior Lion of the week was Leroy Dickerson.

Wilbanks Talked on Easter at Rotary

President - elect Winston Wilbanks spoke Tuesday at the Rotary Club luncheon on Easter. The question most frequently asked, according to the speaker, was "Why Did Jesus Suffer?"

Mr. Wilbanks made his own interpretation from the scriptures in answering the question and drew the following answers:

1. It was God's will.
2. It was Jesus' choice.
3. Suffering was necessary to his own success.
4. His suffering is necessary for our own good.

According to the speaker, the scriptures bear out that God had no delight in the suffering of Christ, but there was no other way for atonement of the guilt of all of us.

It was not an easy choice for Jesus. The only instrument in his crucifixion which was his own was his cross.

The death of Christ on the cross was in payment for the price of sacrifice, which he must have. Christ paid for our guilt through his suffering.

Thirteen visiting Rotarians from Wellington, Borger, Hereford, and Amarillo were introduced.

(By Lawrence Hunnicutt)

One of the things Canyon should be proud of is its Fire Department. One way for such appreciation to be shown is in unauthorized personnel staying away from fires. Recently one of the firemen was slowed up considerably when he was almost forced off the road on his way to a fire.

Although the department is made up of volunteers, a professional group will find it difficult to beat the efficiency of the local boys. Wednesday afternoon when the siren sounded two trucks were out of the fire department garage and on their way to the blaze in less than two minutes. This is an admirable record when you stop to think that the volunteers work at various places about town. When the siren sounds they have to put down what they're doing and drive or run to the fire department.

Two trucks out of the department in two minutes after the siren sounds is a good record. Those boys can probably hold that record if the curious public will just stay out of their way and let them get to the scene of the fire without having to take to the prairie trails.

One of the things the local VFW club is talking about is a television party. Such an event might prove to be a popular social affair, especially to those people who do not have a set themselves.

At least two impressive Easter Sunrise programs are planned for Sunday. One will be in Palo Duro Canyon as usual. John McCarty was in last week to give some detailed plans of the service to be held at the canyon's No. 1 Crossing this year. He explained that it was strictly a religious service type program, not a pageant nor a play.

The other Easter program will be conducted, also at sunrise, in Buffalo Stadium. This program will be given by the Inter-Denominational group of Canyon. Hymns will be sung by a choir directed by Dennis Lyle, educational director of the First Baptist Church. There will also be group singing, and Harrell Slack will be the speaker.

Cecil Massey, former Canyon Chamber of Commerce manager who took over that job in Hereford about a year ago, explained to Gene Davis how the recent sandstorms caused bigger crowds in his town. He said they had come from various points, many of them from New Mexico. It seems that they were looking for their farms that had gone with the wind and it went that-a-way.

Frank Hicks has opened his new cafe on the east side of the square. It's a neat, wholesome place that sort of makes you hungry when you go inside even if you just go in for a cup of coffee. Canyon sure has its share of nice eating places and they're conveniently situated for you no matter what part of town you happen to be in.

Charlie Donnell has a couple of things to be happy about now. He has his voice back and the improvements he's labored so hard to get at the City Club are beginning to bear fruit. The well they recently finished out there has been pumping long enough to have the creek completely filled. From all outward appearance there's going to be some mighty fine fishing out there in a few years.

The newly constructed City Barn will get its initiation for some of its other uses Thursday, April 9, when the Randall County Dairy Association holds its annual show there. Glenn Waggoner, chamber of commerce manager, said the chamber was doing everything possible to make the show a success. Louis Hinders is president of Randall County Dairy Association and Waylon Carroll, instructor of agriculture at Canyon High School, is superintendent of the show.

Prison System Is Discussed by Governor Shivers

By ALLAN SHIVERS
Governor of Texas

The people who commit crimes are still human beings after their freedom has been forfeited.

That is one of the basic principles behind the operation of the Texas Prison System.

Of course, punishment never will be outmoded as long as there is crime. But Texas has progressed a long way in its treatment of those convicted of violating the law.

Many of the advancements of the past few years may be traced to improved buildings, more sanitary living conditions, better food, and other physical aspects of maintaining the 12 units of the Texas Prison System.

Still more improvements of this kind are needed and should be provided at the first opportunity. As I have said previously, when and if the courts rule the Texas gas-gathering tax to be legal, I hope to see our State put part of the money that will become available into prison construction, along with other badly-needed capital improvements.

One of the most urgent needs of the Prison System exists at Eastham Farm, near Crockett, where overcrowding is a serious problem.

Despite all of our hopes and endeavors, the Texas prison population continues to grow. By mid-summer, there are expected to be 7,500 inmates — about 650 more than there were a year ago. This makes the expansion requirements more urgent.

Aside from the matter of punishment — which remains serious even though it is regarded by some of our modern thinkers as old-fashioned — there are three chief objective of a good Prison System. These are (1) protection of the public from the criminal element, (2) protection of the prisoners from each other, and (3) rehabilitation of the individual prisoners.

Most of the State prison expenditures go for the first two of these items, although protective walls and cells and guards form a definite part of the rehabilitation program.

Much of the rehabilitating cost is paid by income from the annual prison rodeo.

The rehabilitation program is, briefly, the many-sided task of providing opportunities so that any prisoner who desires to improve himself may do so.

The "rehab" activities embrace general and vocational education, library operation, recreation, various medical aids, and religious services and counseling.

A typical report, covering the activities of January and February, 1953, indicates that the Prison System's five chaplains conducted 78 religious services, showed inspirational films to 5,000 prisoners, conducted 459 individual conferences, and handled 192 letters or telephone calls about the personal problems of inmates.

In vocational training, 16 trades now are taught, including new courses in sign painting and welding. There are more than 150 men enrolled in vocational correspondence courses and 116 attend classes.

The total enrollment in academic education is 1,800 students, only 415 of whom are on the compulsory, or illiterate, level.

In the two-month period mentioned, more than 15,000 books were loaned from the Prison System library and 13,500 prisoners took advantage of the opportunity to read magazines.

A wide program of recreation is carried out, which included the Golden Gloves tournament early this year. The fourth season of the prison baseball league will begin this month. Dominoes, checkers, and other games are available.

In the medical aids program, 325 inmates received assistance during January and February. Seven hundred eye examinations were conducted and 177 pair of glasses were issued, 70 denture plates were supplied, two hearing aids were provided, and four new artificial limbs were procured.

As chairman of the Inmate Committee of the Texas Prison Board, the Rev. Mr. George Beto, President of Concordia Lutheran College at Austin, is responsible for the rehabilitation program, which is actively administered by Mr. A. C. Turner. Mr. Beto, who accepted an appointment to the Board early in 1953, made an inspection of the entire Texas Prison System in February and March.

He has confirmed my impression that our Prison System is well administered by extremely competent personnel, under the outstanding management of Mr. O. B. Ellis. With the approval of the Texas Legislature, Mr. Ellis began a thorough reform of the State's prisons in 1948. This reformation has extended to improvement of inmates' living conditions, rehabilitation of the prisoners, better selection, training, and compensation of employees, and the use of more efficient farming methods on the 73,000 acres of prison farm lands.

One of the newest and most encouraging rehabilitation projects is in operation on Ferguson Farm at Midway near Madisonville. This is an honor farm where the best rehabilitative prospects in the Prison System live and work without physical restraints. There are no locks, and the 70 men at Ferguson enjoy numerous simple but appreciated comforts and privileges in return for their trustworthiness. Not a single escape has been attempted there.

I join Mr. Ellis, Mr. Beto, and the other members of the Prison Board in their pride at this evidence that many prisoners, once given opportunities for self-improvement and hope for the future, can prepare themselves while in the Texas Prison System for responsible citizenship after their release.

SAVES BABY FROM PYTHON

Darwin, Australia. — A mother, asleep in her camp-house on a truck, felt her 3-months-old baby girl's feet moving away from her. Awakening, she felt a big snake on the bed. At her scream, her husband, Alex Scott, raced to the truck and, by the beam of his flashlight, saw that most of the baby's face was inside the jaws of a python, which was moving off the truck. Scott hit the snake with a stick and it freed the child. Later, it was found curled inside a 44-gallon drum. Other than huge fang marks on its face, the baby was unhurt.

BOSSIE'S MODERN PLUMBING

Mrs. R. M. writes in the Brockton Times: "My little nephew had been on a vacation on the farm. When he came back, I asked him if he'd had a nice time and he replied boldly, "Yes, it was great fun watching the farmer pulling the cow's faucets."

The City Club's first golf ace, officially, was Dr. Harry A. Brown who made a hole-in-one in October 1931. There were three witnesses to back up Dr. Brown's story.

Ratjen Rodeo Queen

Betty Ratjen, sophomore from Happy, has been elected Rodeo Queen by members of the T-Anchor Rodeo Club, to reign over the National Intercollegiate Rodeo championship events slated here April 10-11.

Sister of Dick Ratjen, president of the T-Anchor Rodeo Club, Miss Ratjen will be presented at the opening of each day's events, Friday night and Saturday afternoon. A physical education major, Miss Ratjen will enter the girls' sponsor contests of barrel riding and wild cow milking.

The queen was chosen on the basis of horsemanship, beauty, and personality. She was elected this week by secret ballot by club members.

Miss Ratjen, along with other club members, has been practicing almost daily for the coming rodeo, in which NIRA members from 33 Western colleges and universities have been invited to participate. The two-day affair here is a preliminary to the final championship rodeo slated for the ten top college rodeo teams of the nation in Abilene later this year.

Purses for winners will be made up from entry fees for the events such as calf roping, bare back riding, ribbon roping, saddle bronc riding, bull riding, and the girls' sponsor contests. Points will be awarded to teams entered, and the points go toward determining the teams to enter final championship rodeo events in Abilene.

While NIRA members are in such far Western states as Washington, Idaho, Montana, Utah, and South Dakota, it is not expected that all member schools will participate in the WT rodeo. Sixmen teams probably will come, however, from Colorado, California, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and most of the Texas colleges.

Diphtheria Disease Of Neglect States Health Officer

Diphtheria is a disease of neglect, declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. If all babies, beginning at three months of age, were taken to a physician or clinic for immunization against diphtheria, the infant deaths from this disease would cease. Such immunizations may be given in conjunction with whooping cough and tetanus vaccine for triple protection.

Diphtheria occurs most frequently in early childhood. It is caused by a germ that grows in the nose and throat and throws out a toxin or poison into the blood stream. This poison may attack the heart muscle or it may cause a paralysis known as peripheral neuritis.

Diphtheria is a dangerous disease for a child to have and it is highly infectious to other children. It starts with a sore throat, fever, and sometimes croup and hoarseness.

Adequate immunization early in life is the main defense against diphtheria. It helps the body build up immunity against the dangerous malady.

About a year after completion of the initial triple immunization against diphtheria, whooping cough, and tetanus a booster in jection may be given and another at four to six years of age. Some physicians advise a further injection at nine to ten years of age.

Although the death rate from diphtheria has been markedly reduced in the past 20 years, infants were unsafe without immunization. It is only when all babies are immunized early in life that the conquest of diphtheria will be accomplished.

DROP DEAD DEPARTMENT

At a musical evening a woman was singing, and one of the guests leaned towards the man next to him and muttered: "What an awful voice! I wonder who she is?"

"She happens to be my wife," replied the other, stiffly.

"Oh, I'm awfully sorry," apologized the first. "Of course, it really isn't her voice that's so bad, but that terrible stuff she has to sing. Wonder who wrote that ghastly song?"

"I did," was the even stiffer reply.

How to be a Better Cook ...and save money too!

BY Mary Blake

Home Service Director
Carnation Company

Try these "smart hints" for smart homemakers:

••When broiling hamburgers, give them a deluxe flavor by brushing tops with melted butter with a few drops of Worcestershire sauce added.

••To get every bit of honey or syrup out of your measuring cup or spoon, butter the cup or spoon before filling with syrup.

••No bread crumbs for breading fish or meat? Use crushed dry cereal! Dip fish or meat in undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk—and then in crushed cereal.

••Here's a wonderful combination—when you need to make a soup that's out of the ordinary. Mix 1 can concentrated tomato soup and 1 can concentrated split pea soup with 1 cup of undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk and 1 cup of water. Add ¼ cup minced green onion tops. Serve hot!

••Did you cook something too salty? Use potatoes to rescue it. Just add sliced uncooked potatoes and cook a bit longer. Remove the potatoes. They absorb the extra salt.

"Art. 1001. Cities, Towns, and Villages — publication of receipts and expenditures by city treasurer.

" . . . At the end of every half year he shall cause to be published, at the expense of the city, a statement showing the amount of receipts and expenditures for six months next preceding, and the general condition of the treasury . . ."*

Top Teams From 33 Colleges Expected For Events, April 10

The stop watch starts to time Sid Mills of Pampa, as he begins a calf-tying practice run. The picture makes calf and horse look stationary, but they were moving swiftly. Calf roping is one of the events set for the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association meet to be held at West Texas State College April 10-11.

* * * * *

The dust is flying each afternoon around the new arena at West Texas State College as T-Anchor Rodeo Club cowpokes practice for the big show April 10-11.

College rodeo teams from 33 Western colleges and universities are expected here as WT hosts the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association meet for the fourth time. The association has grown strong during the last few years, and between 200 and 300 arena performers will be seeking purses in the two-day affair.

West Texas State's club itself has grown within the past three years from a dozen to about 45 members, including some 15 girls. Rodeoers here count among their numbers skilled bronc busters who have placed in several collegiate and amateur programs.

Lumber Given

The recently completed arena, built with several thousand dollars worth of lumber donated by Canyon and Amarillo merchants, is ready in all details for the championship rodeo. Bleachers for spectators will be set up before the first event. The boys constructed chutes, arena, pens, and loading docks in their spare time during the fall and winter.

Events set for the rodeo include calf roping, bare back riding, ribbon roping, saddle bronc riding, bull riding, and a girls' sponsor contest (cowgirls' barrel races and wild cow milking) for the female set. Purses are made up of entry fees, with awards going to first through fourth place winners. Top-ranking contenders will also receive prizes of buckles, spurs, and other Western attire.

All Over

NIRA member schools in Montana, Wyoming, Washington, Idaho, Utah, Colorado, California, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arizona, and South Dakota, and Texas will send teams to compete. Each school is allowed six entries, who may enter as many different events as desired. The host college, WT, may have as many competitors as wish to enter.

Texas colleges expected to send entrants include Texas Western, Texas Tech, University of Houston, Sam Houston State Teachers College, Sul Ross, Hardin-Simmons, Texas A & M, East Texas State, Texas Christian University, Arlington State, and John Tarleton.

Bringing their own calves, bucking horses, bulls, and mules from home and nearby ranches and farms, the T-Anchor boys are using every sunny afternoon to full advantage for the adage that practice makes perfect.

Hog Tie

With "piggin' string" in teeth, the boys ride at breakneck speed after a loosed calf, rope him, throw him, and tie him, all to a stopwatch. Twelve seconds is fair, and ten is better, but the time must be lopped off to win a place.

Some of WT's wranglers who have previously ridden in rodeos include Dick Ratjen of Happy, who is president of the T-Anchor boys, Dick Doyle, Claude, Jack Reed, Stratford, and Sid Mills, Pampa.

* * * * *

Safe At Home

The art of tying a calf's feet in near record time is demonstrated by Jack Reed of Stratford, who is preparing to enter the rodeo contest when the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association holds its championship match at West Texas State April 10-11. Reed is one of many WT Rodeo Club members who will enter events in the rodeo.

Wife: "Have you ever seen the man that sold you those Florida lots that were two feet under water?"

Husband (sheepishly): "Yes, I saw him the other day."

Wife (suspiciously): "Well, what happened?"

POINT

That plan for letting children do their home work in school has one great advantage that should not be overlooked. It would save the little ones from the shame of getting a "D" in Dad's arithmetic.

Latest Rumors From Political Front of Nation

Marshal Tito indicated to Winston Churchill that he has a low opinion of Russia's Georgi Malenkov as a Communist leader. Tito feels that he himself, with his non-Russian brand of Communism, might become the No. 1 Communist of the future.

The Yugoslav Marshal gave hints to high British officials that he feels the time may be approaching when Yugoslavia can chip Albania off the edge of Russia's Communist empire.

It will be 1954 before the British are turning out jets of a type superior to the Russian MIG-15s, built around the jet engines that Britain sold to Russia in 1946. The Russian aircraft that shot down a British military plane were powered by engines of British design.

Georgi Malenkov is angling for a meeting with President Eisenhower in order to get a truce in the "cold war." Malenkov's need at home is time to consolidate, just as the Communists in Korea needed time to rebuild their battered forces. Eisenhower is going to be in no rush to arrange a political truce so that the new Russian dictator can grow stronger.

V. M. Molotov, No. 3 in the Russian hierarchy and strongly anti-American, is to keep China policy in his hands. Molotov has handled the Chinese ever since the start of war in Korea, shaping a policy aimed at continued war with the fighting done by Chinese but without a gain in strength for China.

Mr. Eisenhower is not biting, as yet, on a multibillion-dollar plan for making key U. S. cities impregnable against bomber attack. The means of successful defense are coming into sight, but cost of producing the needed weapons and manning of them runs into very big figures.

Gen. Matthew Ridgway, Supreme Commander in Europe, is disturbed by the ammunition shortage in that part of the world and has been trying to do something about it.

The White House is somewhat upset and surprised at the tendency among Republicans in Congress to get into tangles that interfere with the President's timetable for action.

C. E. Wilson, Secretary of Defense, still is having some trouble finding men of the kind he wants for a number of top jobs in the defense establishment. It is going to be necessary to dip below top reaches of industry to get some of the needed executives.

The President feels that he needs more assistants to help with the load of work at the White House. There already are four of these assistants at work on liaison with Congress alone.

It turns out that the decision to support butter prices at 90 per cent of parity was the decision of Ezra Benson, Secretary of Agriculture, and not a White House decision as many had supposed. He called in representatives of the dairy industry and asked them to decide on the level of supports for him, considering the interests of the U. S. as a whole. The decision was that what was good for the dairy industry was also good for the U. S.

T. Coleman Andrews, the man who runs the country's tax system, is clearing new rules and regulations with Colin Stam, staff chief of the Joint Committee on Taxation in Congress. Throughout Government, emphasis is on close working arrangements between the executive and Congress.

Robert B. Anderson, Secretary of the Navy, is being pushed by events into a first-class political battle over the future of large-size aircraft carriers. The Air Force, cautiously at the start, is beginning to build up a new attack against the aircraft carrier as a base for strategic and tactical bombing except in antisubmarine work.

Marine and Navy aviators are pictured as "seething" over the secondary role being assigned to them in Korea, where the Air Force is in control of air operations. While Air Force has run up 27 jet aces, the Navy and Marines have yet to get their first.

Easter Holy Day?

What will it be? Easter Holidays or Easter Holy Days? What will our plans be and of whom shall we be think during this special season?

Next Sunday will be a glorious day for each person who will make a place for the resurrection of Christ in his plans.

Easter is a commemoration day of the triumphant arising of Jesus from the dead.

"And behold, there was a great earthquake: for the angel of the Lord descended from the heavens, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it."

On the first day of the week two women came to the sepulchre.

"And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here: for he is risen, as he said: Come and see the place where the Lord lay."

Easter is thought by some people to be a time for getting a new suit or hat but this Holy day should be set aside in remembrance of the resurrection and life of Jesus.

Are you going to make next Sunday an Easter Holiday or an Easter Holy Day?

Neelley Hired By U. S. Government

Miss Claudia Neelley, CHS art instructor and department head, recently received word that she has been hired by the Federal Government for the next ten years. Her job will be to supervise the redecoration of the interior of the National Capitol.

Miss Neelley's application was filed with President Roosevelt in 1940, however, the war halted the construction. She received her employment due to a great deal of recommendations by former students and associates.

Work will begin early in August, so Miss Neelley is planning for a long vacation in the early part of the summer.

"I am tickled to death and I will do my best," said Miss Neelley when interviewed.

Most of her work will deal with the selection of color, quality of material, and decoration of all the offices and corridors in the national building.

Other honors not publicized are: Mrs. Alice Simms will journey to Washington, D. C., this summer to pronounce words for the National Spelling Bee. She was selected because of her experience in this field.
